November 2008. First, We have a New Meeting Place. Serrecchio's Family Restaurant, 569 S. Meridian Rd. 330-270-5790. Nov, 18th, 7;30pm. They will close the place for us at 7pm.

Well folks, we have a new President (Elect), and I don't mean me. We (the USA) have a hard time getting new people to step up, and run for office too. I wish there was a none of the above selection that we could click, and make the politicians go back, and choose 4 better candidates, that I could have a lot of things I liked about them. It seems if I liked something about 1 candidate, there was something about the other that offset what I liked about the first one. I was undecided right up until I voted, if I was doing the right thing. And only time will tell if I have made a good choice. God Bless America, we will need His help in the coming years. We've dug ourselves into quite a mess. They were already talking about the layoffs coming in racing. How they were laying off spotters, and cutting back on un-necessary personnel, in nascar. They named some teams whose sponsors weren't returning to the sport. It's no stinkin wonder, with the "celebrated" 10 race super-poopers where the only ones to get any recognition are the top 10, who have already gotten the lion's share of the accolades for the bigger portion of the year because they were hanging around the top 10 already. Ya know what? I don't like any sport but racing. I haven't sat and watched a stick & ball game in it's entirety in years, probably 20 or 30. But, I have no problem with anyone who does. You can have the whole roster of the Cleveland Browns tatoored on your buttocks, if you so desire, and I have not a problem with that. But somebody's stinkin up my sport, in the name of progress, and I'm not liking it much. In the Nascar Nationwide Series, Morgan Shepard was running in the top 20 a few races ago, and nobody even noticed. 62 year old Shepard works so hard to race that a while back, he pitted the car, got out and changed his own tires it was reported. Holy cow. You mean a guy with that kind of grit gets no airtime. There oughta be a law. There's Bobby Allison. No one has ever done more for nascar, or given up more than he has. You'd think they'd have him announcing these races, instead of former basketball players. I must be missing something in the translation, because it seems anymore, that racing awards "them that gots, are them that gets". We raced a track a while back, and they award points for qualifying, and heats. Oh, lotta competition there! If you watch, there's guys who roll qualifying tires out of the trailer, qualify, run the heats, then put on the feature rubber. And do it week in & week out. Remember what I said a few months ago about how some home boys could get away with the stuff the others couldn't. I've quietly legislated for rear view mirrors in race cars for years now. You don't have to mandate them, but don't prohibit them. If there was a seat belt with a better or higher holding strength than what is called for, and guys used them it would be wonderful. A rear view mirror, well,, have yours fall off in the heat of summer, then drive around town without one for a week or so, and see how you like it. You'll be like a long tailed cat, in a room full of rocking chairs, believe me. If the track jams up in front of you, at least you have a moments view of which way you can throw the car in an effort to miss the wreck. Sure maybe there would be some who would use them to block a pass from the rear, but that wouldn't last long. Once you got that reputation, the guys would know how to handle it. And spin your buttocks out. Have you ever noticed how much stuff old man Earnhardt used to get away with, compared to now. Ask yourself why that is. It's because they're trying to clean up racing. However at least they agree that the fight between the Allison's, and Cale was the thing that catapulted nascar into the national spotlight. It got more press almost than the winner. My point being, mirrors should be optional. A choice, not arbitrarily prohibited.

Holy cow, I did the whole presidents report on racing, and didn't say anything about you. Ok, here's for you, vote for the board members! Six to elect. Get those ballots in. Buy those Banquet tickets now. Get those Awards Ballots in, NOW!. We need them by the meeting so they can be counted. You only have until the 18th. Don't forget the new meeting place.

Your Prez, Dick Berry.

Holiday President's agenda for Twin State. November & December 2008.

The Family Christmas Dinner, will be held Dec, 14th, the weekend following the Banquet, but on a Sunday afternoon. Make your plans well in advance to bring the kiddies, or grandkiddies to the Lordstown Admin Bldg. Santa will stop by with a present, (provided by you, for under $10. If you don't understand the drill for this manuver, call for instructions, this is very important. Ask for anyone but the kids if you call here.) The present will be presented to your child while they are being interviewed by Santa. (Some kids don't believe in Santa, so PLEASE, if you know that to be true, just ask them not to spoil it for the smaller kids.) One year I brought home a crying child, because one of the other children ran around all day talking about how it was all a lie. Please try to head off a problem like that, in advance.

On Dec, 14th, we will gather at 1pm. Bring a covered dish, or desert for the community table, to be shared by all. We will eat dinner at 2pm. Hopefully the children won't mutiny until Santa gets here at 3:30 pm. Maybe someone will volunteer to keep the children occupied, reading, or coloring until Santa arrives. That would be nice. Party's over at 5 pm. We desperately need to know how many children will be there, as we make a Christmas Stocking for all the kids, and don't want to wind up short. Sort of a door prize. Kids (hopefully believers),14 & under share the joy of Santa, except for the President, who never has grown up. He always sits on Santa's lap, and sings the loudest. I think last year Santa sat on the President's lap. But whatever you do, call the Berry household - Joy, Dick, or Kathy, and let us know how many kids you'll be bringing, so we have enough Christmas Stockings for all the kids in attendance. 330-544-6574 is the number, so do it before ya forget. We're up by 8am, and up until 11 pm. Call anytime, but before Dec, 12th, so we have a final count. Meet at 1pm, eat at 2 pm, Santa arrives at 3:30pm, and party's over at 5pm. We hope to see you there.

Another thing on the agenda is the new year's racing. It's becoming more, & more popular. Sandusky's had a Hangover race for over 20 years now. Jan 1st of the new year. Rain, snow, or shine, it goes in any weather. 1pm .

Mercer's having one now, January 3rd. It's called their Crashing through the Snow race. Racing at 1pm. But they're not asking the public to remember to bring snowballs like Sandusky is ??? Ummmmm, isn't that dangerous,, throwing things from out of your icebox at moving vehicles going around the track. That's strange, usually they'll throw you out of the track for doing that.

Make plans to invite your favorite driver to our Driver's Night. That will be the January 20th, regular meeting.

I hope you all like our new meeting place Serrecchio's Family Restaurant. Mgr. Carol said she'd have a couple pies on hand for this months meeting, cause I've heard some of you complain that our restaurant never has any deserts. So I ordered a punkin, and apple pie for the meeting on the 18th. Of course it's ala'mode. Do you think I'm a piker? Joy and I went there for supper last evening. Joy got an omelet, and it was huge, tasty too. I got spaghetti, with angle hair pasta, my favorite. It was all good. Priced reasonably I felt. I hope you all like it, don't forget to buy the pie. Prez.
